

JAPANESE DRAFT POLICY TOWARD CHINA IN PARLEY

Details of Outcome of Imperial Conference
Held In Secret

TWO ALTERNATIVES WERE CONSIDERED

Announced at Shanghai Forces "Prepared For Next Operation"

TOKYO, Jan. 11.—The highest government and military officials of Japan in imperial conference with the Emperor today drafted formally "the empire's unshakable policy toward China."

The details of that policy and whether it contemplated a formal declaration of war against China, with whom Japan has fought in undeclared conflict for six months, were held in strictest secrecy.

It was announced semi-officially that the Japanese government would issue within a few days a manifesto clarifying its future action in China.

Following the imperial conference, Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye reported details thereof to members of the cabinet advisory board who had waited at his residence.

War Minister General Gen Sugiyama returned to the emperor's palace in the afternoon for a separate audience, presumably linked with the imperial conference decision.

Two Alternations

While the conference results were not known, one informant asserted that two alternatives were presented: China's surrender or continuance of the warfare.

Finance Minister Okimobu Kaya optimistically told cabinet colleagues that Japan would have no difficulties financing long-term hostilities.

An informed official said the imperial conference discussed not only Japan's policy concerning China but also the empire's relations with other world powers.

(Formal declaration of war has been advocated by some Japanese leaders, notably Admiral Nomura Suetsugu, home minister and retired commander of the combined fleets, to facilitate a complete blockade of China's coasts and a drive to capture Canton, great Metropolis of south China.)

(Such moves would almost inevitably heighten the already dangerous tension between Japan and Britain, endangering the position of Britain's colony of Hongkong.)

Today's was the fifth such conference in Japan's history and the first since 1914. All the others were concerned with war. Two during the Chinese-Japanese war of 1894-95 to discuss plans of campaign, the third February 4, 1904, to agree on declaration of war against Russia, the fourth August 15, 1914, to decide on declaration of war against Germany.

No Hint of Objective

SHANGHAI, Jan. 11.—The Japanese army spokesman announced enigmatically today that Japanese forces were "prepared for the next operation if necessary."

He gave no hint of the objective of the "next operation" or of the conditions implied by "if necessary."

The spokesman's statement was made while an imperial conference met with Emperor Hiro-mito at Tokyo to decide Japan's future policy in China.)

China warfronts, the spokesman said, were quiet. Japanese planes rained bombs on the Hankow airfield and three newly discovered Chinese airfields in the interior. Japanese forces in Shantung province pushed westward from Tsingtao, which they occupied without resistance yesterday, and southward toward the Lunghai railway in a drive to trap thousands of Chinese troops.

(On China's southern coast, a Japanese cruiser and destroyer exchanged shells with Chinese Boca Tigris forts guarding the river approach to Canton, the southern metropolis.)

(The destroyer retired, apparently hit, after attempting to land a boatload of marines on Samfan-chow island. Four British-owned river vessels ran the gauntlet of shellfire to safety.)

Bomb Baptist Mission

TSINGTAO, Jan. 11.—Japanese warplanes bombed the American Southern Baptist mission at Tsing, southwest Shantung province, Monday, said a message reaching Tsingtao today.

Miss Gertrude Smith, a member of the mission remaining in Tsing, said a Chinese watchman was killed but there were no American casualties.

CHRYSLER RETURNS 55,000 TO WORK

By The Associated Press.
DETROIT, Jan. 11.—Fifty-five thousand Chrysler Corporation employees, idle since December 23, returned to work today as production was resumed in the corporation's automotive plants here.

Chrysler officials said the plants would operate on either a 24-hour or 32-hour weekly basis, depending upon business conditions. They added that 20,000 workers laid off in November were not being called back at this time.

FUGITIVE WHO ESCAPED JAIL IS CAPTURED HERE

Huie Lear, Ex-convict, Is Accused on Six Charges
In Benton County

Huie Lear, 23 year old ex-convict, who escaped from the Benton county jail at Warsaw New Year's eve, was arrested in a home on East Walnut street about midnight Monday night by Sheriff W. L. Marlin and his deputies, Clyde Coppers and John Starkey. Lear, who was in bed when the officers entered the home, was taken to the county jail, and officers from Warsaw came for him at once.

Harold Thurman, 23, Benton county farmer, held with Lear on a burglary and larceny charge, escaped with him. Thurman voluntarily surrendered Tuesday night, January 4, at the home of his mother, ten miles southeast of Warsaw, where he notified Sheriff Eaton of Warsaw, that he wanted to give himself up.

Was Shot In Arm
Sheriff Eaton and Patrolmen E. B. Burham and Ralph Eidson conducted an intensive search for Lear. They learned of his whereabouts one day last week and were near him, when he escaped, but not before they had fired a shot which penetrated his arm.

The Sedalia officers who arrested him reported the buckshot still was in his arm.
Lear was arrested December 5 by Sheriff Harrison Eaton and State Patrolmen Eidson and Burnham following a search of his residence near Lake Ozark Forest where the officers confiscated property reported stolen from resort cabins in that vicinity over a period of twelve months.

Lear pleaded not guilty waiving a preliminary hearing before Justice B. C. Munger. He was held on six separate charges with a bond placed at $6,000.
Huie Lear began his criminal career in 1929 when at the age of 15 he was sentenced to two years in the Missouri reformatory at Booneville following his conviction on a charge of burglarizing the Eli Haines store at Poplar.

In October, 1933, Lear was convicted on a burglary and larceny charge and was sentenced to two years at Algoa. With a companion, Leonard Haas, he was alleged to have stolen articles from the residence of a Mrs. Miller near Lake Creek. Haas received a like sentence.

After completing his term at the penitentiary Lear was arrested on a charge of robbing a country store in Henry county about the same time the Miller robbery was performed. He was given a two year sentence in the Henry county circuit court but paroled.

PRESIDENT CALLS INDUSTRY CHIEFS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt asked five industrial chieftains to confer with him at the White House late today on the business recession.

Those invited for a five o'clock conference in the President's study were:
Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors Corporation; Ernest P. Weir, chairman of the board of the National Steel Corporation; Lewis Brown, president of Johns-Manville; M. W. Clement, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Colby Chester, head of the General Foods Corporation.

White House officials said the meeting, largest of its kind since the President, in his message to congress, urged the cooperation of business, agriculture and labor in combating the slump, would discuss the economic situation generally and how to improve it.

AUTO LICENSE DEPARTMENT TO A NEW LOCATION

The Missouri automobile license department under Deputy Commissioner Miss Esther Harris, will be moved tonight from the Thompson Chevrolet Motor Co., Fourth street and Osage avenue, to the Clifford Motor Company at 224-226 South Osage avenue.

The 1938 licenses can be secured at the new location beginning Wednesday morning.

SNOWY SHROUD OVER TEN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Aircraft Took Fire Near Bozeman, Mont., After a Tailspin

BODIES BE TAKEN OUT LATE TODAY

Blizzard Forces Delay
For Task of Moving
Them From Wreck

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 11.—Wading through deep mountain snow, federal inspectors and county officials today reached the snow-covered but still smoldering wreckage of a Northwest Airlines plane which carried 10 persons to death late yesterday. They immediately began an investigation of the crash.

A blizzard covered the ruins with snow during the night.

Coroner Howard Nelson of Gallatin county ordered the bodies, all mangled and burned beyond recognition, taken to Bozeman as soon as a means of conveyance could be arranged.
In the party with him when he reached the almost inaccessible little clearing, 14 miles northeast of Bozeman in the Bridger mountain range, was A. D. Niemeyer of Seattle, department of commerce inspector, and Sheriff Lovitt I. Westlake of Gallatin county.

The scene could be reached only by wading or on skis or bobsled.

Searchers who first reached the scene last night were forced to retreat when the blizzard began, but left guards at the spot.

BOZEMAN, Mont., Jan. 11.—(P)—A biting blizzard threw a snowy shroud over the bodies of 10 persons killed when a Northwest Airlines plane crashed and burned in the Bridger mountains 14 miles north of here yesterday.

Piloted by Nick Mamer who had flown more than 1,000,000 miles without injuring a passenger, the plane went into a tailspin and plunged nose-first into a small clearing. The nose was snapped off by impact with the frozen ground.

Searchers found all aboard dead, but the storm forced them to give up until late today the task of bringing the bodies here. A guard was left at the crash scene.

Gallatin county officials said snowplows would open the roads when the bodies are brought down by bobsled.

Two woodcutters, C. A. Larson and Glenn White, were working about 200 feet from where the plane crashed but were unable to approach because of the flames. They went immediately for help and met Sheriff Lovitt I. Westlake and a party of forest rangers.

Northwest Airlines officials in St. Paul listed the dead as Mamer, Co-Pilot F. W. West, both of Spokane, and these eight passengers:
W. E. Borgenheimer, about 39, Basin, Mont., who had cancelled a reservation on a later plane to speed to the bedside of his dying mother in Wisconsin. Word reached Basin about the time of the crash that the mother had died.

Lloyd Levin, 33, returning to his home at Detroit, after visiting his ill mother at Butte, Mont. He was a mechanic.

Al H. Croonquist, 47, of Billings, Mont., state traffic manager for the airline and one of the organizers of the Montana-Wyoming Dude Ranchers' association.

WILLIAM SOUTHERN ON STATE CANCER COMMISSION

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 11.—(P)—Governor Lloyd C. Stark today appointed William Southern, publisher of the Independence, Mo., Examiner, as a member of the state cancer commission to succeed Ed F. Swinney, Kansas City banker.

Swinney, who served six months on the commission during which time Columbia was chosen as the site for the new state cancer hospital, asked to be relieved of the duties, Stark said.

SICK PAROLE IS GRANTED TO ERVIN GALLOWAY

Ervin Galloway, of this county, serving 25 years for automobile theft and prior conviction, was granted a sick parole by Governor Lloyd C. Stark. He is suffering from tuberculosis.

Galloway was received at the penitentiary November 3, 1934.

WILL STILL RECEIVE PLEDGES FOR RELIEF

Payments on pledges made to the Pettis County Relief Fund, as well as reports on new subscriptions, are still to be brought or sent or mailed to the campaign office on the second floor of the old postoffice building at Second and Lamine, according to an announcement issued Tuesday by Rabbi S. H. Baron, campaign director.

This arrangement will continue—and Rabbi Baron expects to remain in charge on a part-time basis—until the Pettis County Relief Committee announces permanent plans for a post-campaign follow-up system of receiving deferred payments from subscribers. An assistant in the office all day for the time being, the full campaign office force having ceased work on December 31, 1937.

RECEPTION BY PRESIDENT TO JUDICIARY TONIGHT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(P)—President Roosevelt will greet supreme court justices and their wives tonight at his annual reception for the judiciary.

Justice Cardozo, ill of heart disease, will not be able to attend. The other justices did not indicate in advance whether they would be present.

COMMITTEE IS GIVEN RELIEF DRIVE REPORT

Rabbi Baron Makes It
at Meeting On Monday Night

An extensive and conclusive report on the Pettis county appeal by Rabbi S. H. Baron, campaign director, at a meeting of the relief committee, brought an end to the 1937 drive Monday night with the announcement that a sum of $18,640.05 had been received.

Members of the committee meeting in the old postoffice heard a detailed report of eight weeks of soliciting with suggestions from its able campaign director for the drive in 1938.

A vote of thanks was given Rabbi S. H. Baron.

Of the total pledges received by the campaign, $7,183.05 was paid in cash leaving a balance of $11,456.94 to be collected. Plans for collections were discussed but no definite arrangements were made.

The report further showed the city of Sedalia contributed $17,278.17 and the county solicitations making up the remainder of $1,362.38.

Miss Rose Ann Dugan, acting county social security secretary, announced 670 cases were given assistance during the month of December in Pettis county at a cost of $6,488.68. Of this sum the state allotted $4,568.74 and the county furnished $1,919.94 to be used for food, fuel and clothing, the latter being approved by the committee.

The Sedalia Parent Teachers association luncheon project which feeds 489 children in eight public schools daily was also allotted $1,300 to carry on their program.

Ripping Apart Once Proud Queen of Seas, Old Leviathan

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Workmen and blowtorches have started to rip apart the old Leviathan, once the proud queen of the seas, that cleaved the Atlantic between America and Europe 150 times, carrying royalty and common folk, fighting men and dancing girls.

It was only a preliminary indignity, clipping the funnels of the dusty rusty ship so she can pass under the bridge of the Firth of Forth on her way to a shipbreakers' yard at Glasgow, Scotland.

There she'll find her final doom—as junk metal to be rolled in manufacturing guns for Great Britain's fighting forces.

The Leviathan will sail on her final trip late this month from Hoboken, where she has rested since 1934. Once the most luxurious liner afloat, she'll steam away on this last trip a grimy, down-at-the-heel ghost of a ship that once knew the tramping feet of 110,000 doughboys on their way to France.

FIVE YEARS TERM TO HOUSE ROBBER

George Zeigler, of the state of Iowa, was found guilty of burglary and larceny, in connection with the theft of some articles from the Dankenbring home, near Sweet Springs by a jury in the circuit court this morning. His punishment was placed at three years on the burglary charge and two years on the larceny charge.

Zeigler was represented by Harvey Dow, who had been appointed by the court.

ESSENTIAL NEED IS COOPERATION BANKER STATES

Already Improvement Is In Sight Declares
J. H. Perkins

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(P)—Complete recovery from the present recession depends on solution of a number of problems, but already improvement is in sight, James H. Perkins, chairman of the National City Bank of New York, and City Bank Farmers Trust Co., asserted in his report to stockholders today.

He listed as causes of the slump: Stocking-up of inventories last spring, increased cost of production through taxation and added wage burdens, ending inflationary support previously given by the government's deficit financing and "the effect of existing uncertainties in retarding the flow of savings into new industries and private enterprise."

Taking the situation as a whole, Perkins said, the essential need is for "the cooperative efforts of capital and labor. We should bear necessary taxation cheerfully, but taxes should be levied so as to preserve the incentive to saving and enterprise," he said.

Declaring that the standard of living of the people could be raised only through increasing the efficiency of production and by expanding the industries, he said:

We must produce more to have more, and distribute the greater production among all groups of the population through lowering costs, in order that prices may be within the reach of all. This is the historical philosophy of this country under which all the great industries in the past hundred years have been built up. We must cling to it if we are to progress."

The administration's study of business conditions also was under way at the White House, where President Roosevelt sought the views of three private power company executives on the possibility of expanding private utility construction.

The President's callers were Daniel C. Green of the Central Service Corporation, Chicago; John Carpenter of the Texas Power and Light Company, Dallas, and A. B. West of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation, Riverside, Calif.

Acute at Industrial Points
Senator Byrnes said social security board data and previous testimony had convinced him the business decline had been felt most actively in industrial cities.

He said he saw a definite connection between auto plant layoffs in Detroit and that city's increase of 65.4 per cent in direct relief cases in December.

The request for payroll figures went to General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Hudson, Studebaker and Packard companies.

William Knudson, president of General Motors, has testified his company had 174,000 employees Labor Day, 216,000 December 4, and 22,000 fewer at Christmas time.

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, said General Motors was employing only 161,000 men January 1 and that its peak of employment, in October, was 226,000.

Martin estimated that only 50,000 were at work Jan. 1 in Ford's River Rouge plant, where he declared 90,000 ordinarily were employed. He said Chrysler employment had dropped from a 1937 peak of 80,000 to about 15,000.

The CIO official reported he had no figures on Studebaker employment, which he said ordinarily includes 8,000 persons. He said a ghost of a story from a ghost of a ship.

ASSERTS RURAL RELIEF DEMANDS ARE INCREASING

Sec. Wallace Declares In Testimony at Unemployment Inquiry

NEEDS GREATEST IN THE PLAINS REGION

Senator Byrnes Convinced
Recession Acute In Industry Centers

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Secretary Wallace told a senate committee today that demands for rural relief were increasing steadily and that neither local nor federal agencies "have the means to cope" with the situation.

Testifying at the unemployment inquiry he blamed the industrial recession, falling farm prices, increased mechanization of agriculture and drought for the critical condition which he said demanded expansion of rural relief. Farm income, he said would fall this year five to ten per cent below 1937.

The relief need is greatest, he said, in the great plains region, which has suffered from droughts since 1934.

Without making recommendations for solution of the problem, Wallace said:

"At this date, it is impossible to foresee the speed with which these demands may grow, or even to predict their magnitude within the next few months. They will be determined, in large measure, by the weather and the course of business recovery."

The cabinet officer said demands for subsistence grants averaging approximately $20 a month per family, had more than doubled rural relief spending since midsummer.

The area where needs are greatest, he said, are Montana, Wyoming, North and South Dakota, Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Nebraska.

"If present dry weather conditions continue," he said, "relief needs in the great plains area may be increased to an unpredictable but potentially very large extent."

Wallace estimated that between 15,000 and 20,000 agricultural laborers were thrown out of work in Iowa alone this fall due to use of mechanical corn pickers.

Ask About Payrolls.

Senate unemployment investigators, meanwhile, asked six leading auto manufacturers today to tell how many men they had on the payroll on Labor Day, December 1 and January 1.

Chairman Byrnes (D-SC) of the special committee indicated that the payroll comparisons were desired to show the effect industrial layoffs have on relief rolls and public purchasing power.

The administration's study of business conditions also was under way at the White House, where President Roosevelt sought the views of three private power company executives on the possibility of expanding private utility construction.

The President's callers were Daniel C. Green of the Central Service Corporation, Chicago; John Carpenter of the Texas Power and Light Company, Dallas, and A. B. West of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation, Riverside, Calif.

THE GROCERS INSTALL OFFICERS

The Sedalia Independent Retail Grocers met in a well attended meeting at Hotel Bothwell Monday night and installed the following officers:

President, Charles Solon. Vice President, Landon Welch. Treasurer, Jerry Sullivan. Directors for two years, Ernest Goldsmith, R. C. Morton, Jake Silverman.

Special guests were Joe Rosenthal, president of the Chamber of Commerce, who installed the officers, and Jack Crawford, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Refreshments were served after the meeting.

SUIT DROPPED BY OTTO C. BOTZ ON OFFICES SITE

Notice Given Governor
Lloyd C. Stark of Its Withdrawal

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 11.—Otto C. Botz notified Governor Lloyd C. Stark today he would withdraw an injunction suit to prevent construction of the proposed $850,000 state office building on the site just west of the supreme court building.

"You may thus proceed to erect this building and may it be an everlasting monument to your board," Botz wrote Stark as chairman of the state board of the permanent seat of government.

Botz, independent candidate for governor in 1936, filed application for an injunction in the Cole county circuit court last October 28, declaring erection of the building on the proposed site was "not in conformity with the accepted plans for the future development of either the City of Jefferson or . . . its capitol grounds."

In view of the fact that your board has rejected the objections and protests of various civic organizations, has ignored this legal proceeding, and overridden the adverse report of Mr. Egerton Swartwout, (New York consultant architect who designed the capitol), it would appear futile for any individual to attempt to carry on single-handed the effort to impress upon you the demand of public opinion," Botz stated.

The board announced last week, after considering a report by Swartwout urging abandonment of the site, that it had "decided to proceed with the construction of the building on the site selected, knowing it to be to the best interests of the taxpayers of Missouri from the standpoint of economy and efficiency."

MURPHY PREDICTS INDUSTRY UPSWING

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(P)—Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan gave President Roosevelt today an optimistic picture of prospects for the automobile industry, predicting a big "upswing" in the spring.

Murphy, talking with reporters after a lengthy luncheon conference at the white house said the automobile market had been over-sold due in great measure to "sales technique," but that the future outlook was good.

The Michigan preceded by a few hours five industrial leaders who were called to a five o'clock conference in the president's study.

DAILY IMPROVEMENT IN INDUSTRIAL PLANTS

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Governor Frank Murphy discussed Michigan's unemployment problem optimistically today prior to a White House luncheon.

"Each day there is an improvement and there will continue to be an improvement. But there won't be any great rush back to work," the governor said.

Murphy estimated 250,000 persons were out of work in Michigan. He predicted a "gradual absorption" as motor plants speeded operations.

LOOKS TO IMPROVED BUSINESS SHORTLY

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—Robert E. Wood, president of Sears Roebuck and Company, said today in an interview here he believed the consumer goods industries would show improved business soon and "we haven't had much of a drop as it is."

He said the greatest need was for a plan to improve the status of the capital goods industries but "I'm afraid I haven't a ready-made scheme in my pocket to solve the difficulties."

JAPANESE ESPIONAGE

Soviet officials in Moscow say the United States is overrun with Japanese spies and that this is particularly true of the Pacific coast and the Panama canal.

The Detroit Free Press says that Moscow is probably right. "And the motive of the Red government in telling the American government what the American government undoubtedly already knows is perfectly plain.

"So is the way in which the Soviet government got its information. It could get its knowledge only from the spies and other agents which it notoriously maintains in the United States.

"However, this country cannot fairly complain much. Even the friendliest nations have their 'intelligence men' in one another's yards. And no reason exists for supposing that the United States is backward in this respect."

Espionage, like propaganda, is general. All the nations on earth are busy with them. There is no question that the Japanese have been, and are, finding out about the United States what the government in Tokyo wishes to know. But it is probable that the United States has assembled much information about the Japanese.

Just what the naval activity off the California coast really meant has not been said and it is not going to be said. It is difficult to believe that the motive for the patrol was no deeper than the capture of small craft which were said to be illegally operated. The government in Washington permitted an air of mystery to cover the movements of the naval vessels.

Japanese espionage is probably thorough, but it is more thorough than the espionage performed for this government? Think you that Great Britain is not using spies in Italy or that Italy is not using spies in Great Britain?

THEY PREFER THIN ICE

Four Soviet meteorologists on their drifting ice floe ask to be let alone for some time yet. It was intimated not long ago that the ice raft was beginning to crack up and that planes might be employed to take them off. A radio message now says there are times when the four scientists are a bit nervous, but they prefer to stick it out until they have completed their observations.

Is it cruel to suggest, states the New York Times, that ever since the purging began in Soviet Russia about a year ago it is much safer for official Russians abroad to stay where they are? The four men on the floe might prefer to take a chance on the ice liquidating under them than on being liquidated in quicker fashion at home. People may ask why any one should want to liquidate a group of harmless meteorologists and radio operators. But they have just begun to purge the astronomers in Soviet Russia, and a weather man would conceivably be more dangerous than a stargazer. For example, the Soviet ice floe at the present moment may be a couple of degrees of latitude and longitude away from the prescribed location in the original plan, and that would make the navigators guilty of deviation from the party line.

The north and the south, says a statesman, have many similar problems. Especially in contract bridge.

Self-pity and sour envy aren't confined to the poor. You envy the rich man's money; he envies your gall bladder.

PLAN TO CURB LAWSUIT

From the Boston Herald.

The Boston pretrial plan for simplifying justice is spreading over the entire United States. The plan originated with Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan of Detroit and was brought here after investigation by Justice Louis S. Cox and Executive Clerk Phinney of the superior court. Boston proved the workability of the plan and publicized it.

Put into effect for Suffolk county on September 1, 1935, it was extended the next year to Essex county. Then the judicial council of New York, after observation here, recommended its adoption for the cities of that state. Los Angeles followed, and the Texas Bar association unanimously approved the practice. Now the supreme court of the United States is expected within a few months to approve it for the district courts of the nation.

The plan is simplicity itself. Within a fortnight of the date assigned for a trial, the parties appear before a judge who explores the possibility of a settlement without trial. If trial is unavoidable, the judge seeks to determine the actual triable issue and to obtain agreement as to facts and witnesses. Many trials are thus obviated, expense and time are saved for the overburdened superior court and witnesses and attorneys escape much inconvenience. Preview might serve as a descriptive term for the process.

One of the major problems left by 1937 for 1938 to solve is whether the Duke of Windsor will or will not visit us.

If we really are in for another long recession the title of that currently popular tune should be changed to "Mamma That Eclipse Is Here Again."

The reason the modern American child no longer believes in the groundhog myth is because he, unlike the Easter Rabbit and Santa Claus, brings no gifts.

And then there was the schoolboy who, when teacher referred to "food for thought," was under the impression she was talking about alphabet soup.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The days of martial pomp and circumstance are about numbered for Harry Woodring. The genial, barren-beamed little Kansan is going to have to move his ornate office from the State, War and Navy building to dingy, makeshift quarters.

And, much more important, the time is soon approaching when he will resign altogether as Secretary of War.

The movement of Woodring's office is entirely distinct from his resignation, but it may be symbolic.

For years the war department has shared offices with the state department in the same building. Here the office of the Secretary of War, done in ornate gold leaf, and fitted with old marble fireplace and mirror, was just around the corner from the Secretary of State. The office reeks with mouldy dignity, and has the additional advantage of being just across the street from the white house.

From this sanctum recent Secretaries of War have refused to move—even though the expanding State Department needed more space. Now the president has intervened personally and ordered Woodring to pack up and exit.

Woodring's resignation has not been so cut an order. "A definite understanding" is the more correct phraseology. He is to hand in his clearance papers in the not too distant future, but Roosevelt will not push him too precipitately.

Replacing him will be Louis Johnson, now assistant secretary of war, a West Virginian, and former commander of the American Legion.

Note—Woodring stepped into the cabinet temporarily after the death of Secretary Dern. He has been so obviously in love with his job that the president hated to relieve him. Incidentally, the generals rather like Woodring, say he has worked hard at the job.

Grandpa Glass

On the day he became an octogenarian, Senator Carter Glass of Virginia was being photographed with his granddaughter, Nancy Carter Boatwright, sitting on his knee.

The telephone rang and Glass answered it. Later he said, "That was Henry Morgenthau. He's coming up here to see me. If you want, you can stay and take pictures of me and him together."

"Thank you, Senator," said a cameraman, "but we'd rather take you with Nancy than with Secretary Morgenthau."

"Well," said the Senator who once held Morgenthau's job, "she has a darn sight more sense."

Note—On the same day that Grandpa Glass became 80, Nancy became 13.

Wage-Hour Clarifiers

The air about the wage-hour bill has been clarified considerably, and it now seems almost certain that some sort of bill will be passed this session. There were four chief clarifiers:

1. The president's message to congress bearing down on the relation between labor and agriculture.

2. The full-page newspaper advertisements of the southeast gov-

PHONE NO MENACE TO HEALTH

The idea of germs everywhere may lead an unduly timorous person to an attempted avoidance of all the many objects with which our manner of living brings us into contact. More rational people, drawing upon their experience of general freedom from disease, realize that such an avoidance is futile and unnecessary.

The telephone is an instrument that comes in pretty intimate contact with a large number of people in all walks of life and all states of health. Yet the fact is, that after the most painstaking investigations, the use of millions of telephones every day for tens of millions of conversations has not produced one authenticated case of disease transmission by the use of the telephone.

The question has engaged the attention of the medical profession, and of public health services here and abroad. All the telephone companies of Europe and the United States have repeatedly studied the question, and have sponsored investigation.

The use of devices to make the mouthpiece more sanitary has been advocated by a number of inventors, but the experience of all the companies has been that these interfere with the efficiency of the telephone without serving any useful purpose.

The most successful of the solutions used to try to sterilize the telephone transmitter are heralded to the user by a strong odor. This gives a sense of safety, but the best germicides are not necessarily the ones with the most medicinal odor.

Fortunate Fact

It is a fortunate fact that most germs (and all viruses which cause so many human diseases, including the common cold) do not live on non-living surfaces. To keep them alive they must be in contact with living tissue, and human living tissue at that.

Columbia university, in New York, and the University of Chicago, conducted extensive bacteriological tests in our two largest cities. A bacteriologist went on rounds of a large number of telephones, preferably public phones, and wiped a sterile moistened swab over the mouthpiece. Then he made cultures from these swabs to see what kind of bacteria he had. In both cities harmless bacteria were found and a few types of disease-producing ermors' conference which stated that the south did not want to profit by sweated labor.

3. The election of Lister Hill as senator from Alabama, running on a wage-hour platform against Tom Heflin, who opposed it.

4. Christmas vacations spent by congressmen in their districts sounding out sentiment.

The last probably was more important than any other influence. The voters, according to many returning congressmen, were with the president on this issue.

Representative Luther Patrick of Birmingham, Alabama, admitted this with some embarrassment at a secret meeting of congressional leaders gathered to discuss the wage-hour measure.

"I'm afraid I made a mistake," he said ruefully, "when I voted to recommit. Alabama is supposed to be the home of the sweatshop, but when I went home I found that everybody wanted me to explain my vote. No matter what the high priests of the A. F. of L. may say, their laity are for this bill."

Note—The man responsible for swinging the southeast governors' conference directly behind the bill was Lawrence (Chip) Robert, vacillating secretary of the Democratic national committee and the moving genius behind the conference. Chip thought it was good strategy to put the south on record against sweated labor, and wrote the newspaper ad himself.

Supreme Court Resignations

The resignation of Justice Sutherland was like taking the key log out of a jam. It is likely to start a large flow of resignations. In fact, it is not improbable that the complexion of the supreme court will be changed almost entirely during Roosevelt's term of office.

With the liberals now in control, there is less incentive for the conservatives to stay on. Justice McReynolds has made no secret of the fact that he remained on the bench largely because of his vehement opposition to New Deal ideas. But now, being in the minority, his opposition is ineffective.

McReynolds is nearly 76. Justice Butler is 72. Chief Justice Hughes is 76. All are retirement possibilities. Even before they retire, the court is likely to see some resignations on the liberal side.

Most probable retirement is Justice Cardozo, now ill, who sometimes suffers from very serious heart trouble. Cardozo is 68, and finally has come to like Washington better than he did, but he still is happiest at his home at Rye, New York, or in his native Manhattan.

The resignation of Justice Brandeis also is a distinct possibility. Now past his 81st birthday, Brandeis is in good health, but not as active as he was. In any case, both Brandeis and Cardozo are sure to resign before Roosevelt leaves office. Otherwise they run the risk of having a conservative president fill their shoes with conservative successors.

bacteria were found. In Chicago, no diptheria, no tuberculosis and no pneumonia germs were found. In the New York study no diptheria and no tuberculosis were found, but some pneumonia types were found in the winter and spring months.

In Chicago, studies were made to see how long pathogenic bacteria would live on the telephone transmitter. Ninety per cent of germs were dead within one hour, and nearly all of them died within fifteen minutes.

Poems That Live

"OVER THE WINTRY THRESHOLD"

Over the wintry threshold
Who comes with joy today,
So frail, yet so enduring,
To triumph o'er dismay?

Ah, quick her tears are springing,
And quickly they are dried,
For sorrow walks before her,
But gladness walks beside.

She comes with gusts of laughter
The music as of rills;
With tenderness and sweetness,
The wisdom of the hills.

Her hands are strong to comfort,
Her heart is quick to heed;
She knows the signs of sadness,
She knows the voice of need;

There is no living creature,
However poor or small,
But she will know its trouble,
And hearken to its call.

Oh, well they fare forever,
By mighty dreams possessed,
Whose hearts have lain a moment
On that eternal breast.

CONSTANCE CORBY—heroine; richest girl in the world.
BRET HARDESTY—hero; bridge builder.
RODNEY BRANDON—Connie's fiancé.
KATIE BLYN—Connie's "double."

Yesterday, Connie decides to see the other side of life and trade places for an adventure.

CHAPTER IV

THE girl sat down on the nearest chair, as though her knees would have given way beneath her if she had not.

"What do you mean?" she asked. "Like . . . like The Prince and The Pauper?"

"Yes and no," Connie returned. Again she nodded with satisfaction. "We look almost enough alike, at that. Blue eyes, hair the same shade, weight and height. At least enough for any one who did not know us. Reporters and photographers, for instance." The light in her eyes glowed even more brightly than before. "Did you really mean it when you said you'd like to be me?" she demanded.

"Did I mean it?" Connie commanded. She crossed the room; bolted the door. "Hurry!" she said impatiently, when she saw that the girl had not moved. "We can work out the details while we change. I'll leave a note for Uncle Tippy, he's my guardian, a perfect dear; he'll understand, do as I tell him. I can slip out, carrying that box, in your things, and no one will stop me. Here!" She yanked off her negligee, tossed it toward her visitor, who still sat as if in a trance. "Don't do that!" Connie reprimanded. "Pull on my negligee, climb into my bed—and stay in it as long as you like—and dash off that letter for me to drop in a box to your family."

"My family won't worry about me," the girl said bravely. "Besides I told them just last night I was moving out on my own. There's only one person . . . But no," she drew her finely arched dark brows together in a little frown not unlike the one that often marred Connie's smooth brow, "I won't send him word, either." Her blue eyes blazed with a hidden fire not unlike the one that often smoldered behind Connie's.

"We quarreled last night," she confessed. "My steady and I. Everyone thought we'd get married some day. But I told him I was sick of being courted with my whole family looking on—there are eight of us, you know, besides Grandma Wertz, who's come to live with us now. That was the trouble, as I told Tom, we never had any freedom, not privacy. Why would you believe it, when Tom stole a kiss last night, a cop came along and he'd dared us to move off his old park bench, said he'd have to lock us up if we didn't, as it was after 11. That was when I broke it all off," she finished, some of the fire dying down in her now. "I told Tom it wasn't any use. Romance should be secret. I told him I never wanted to see him again. And I meant it."

It would do Rodney good, too, Connie thought, without the slightest pang of regret. "But you'd better get busy and write your letter," the girl suggested. She had climbed into the big bed and settled herself among the heaps of pillows, so that now it might have belonged to her, as well as to Connie and Marie Antoinette. Its present mistress looked very tiny and lovely—and very much as though she were mistress of all she surveyed.

Even Gibbs would be fooled for a minute, Connie thought, and she wished she might stay just to see that grim creature's startled expression. She got paper and pen from the Louis XVI desk, sat down to write her letter. When she had finished it, she folded it carefully, sealed the envelope, propped it against the mirror on her dressing table.

From a drawer she took some bills, thrust them into a purse. She hesitated a moment, then added an emerald brooch, a diamond ring, and a small string of perfectly matched pearls. She dumped out the new frocks from the box marked Lucille's, repacking it with a few hastily gathered belongings.

"What is your name?" she asked the girl in the bed, who looked

Conversation About a Baby

TWO WOMEN were talking and one of them said she thought she'd like to have a baby. The other disagreed violently. She couldn't see the sense of it. She didn't want any babies in her house. Her child-hood had been all cluttered up with children and she wasn't going to have her maturity cluttered up with any . . . And the conversation, back and forth, was approximately this:

1. Babies yell so much.
2. But only when they are sick or tired or hungry.
3. They cost such a lot of money.
4. They ramp your style.
5. They give you another style.

6. It's so much trouble training them to be civilized.
7. But they train you while you are training them.
8. Yes, to be self-sacrificing.
9. But that doesn't hurt me.
10. You'll be peevish and nervous and quarrelsome and Dick won't like you any more.

11. If a baby breaks up our marriage, it can't be much of a marriage.
12. It's just vanity, your wanting a child.
13. But the most natural vanity in life.
14. They grow up and leave you.

15. That's what they should do.
16. And that might be twins.
17. Which would be grand.
18. You're nothing but an old-fashioned female, after all.
19. As I have just discovered.
20. It's criminal to bring a child into such a world as this.
21. Our children will have an exciting life, with never a moment of boredom.
22. But I was hopeless!
23. But I was never more hopeful in my life.

EMBARGO LOOMS IF DECLARATION OF WAR COMES

Crucial Point If Japan Acts on China Lies In Possible Blockade

By The Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—If Japan formally declares war on China, state department officials said today, it would be difficult for President Roosevelt to refrain from invoking embargo provisions of the American neutrality act.

The act bans shipments of war supplies to both belligerents whenever the President decides a state of war exists. Some observers contended its invocation would aid Japan, which has greater facilities than China for making munitions.

Officials studying the far eastern situation said they were encouraged by house refusal to consider the Ludlow war referendum proposal, which President Roosevelt had declared "would cripple any president in his conduct of our foreign relations."

House leaders said the 209 to 188 vote had strengthened the administration's foreign policy and augured well for any new naval construction the President might recommend.

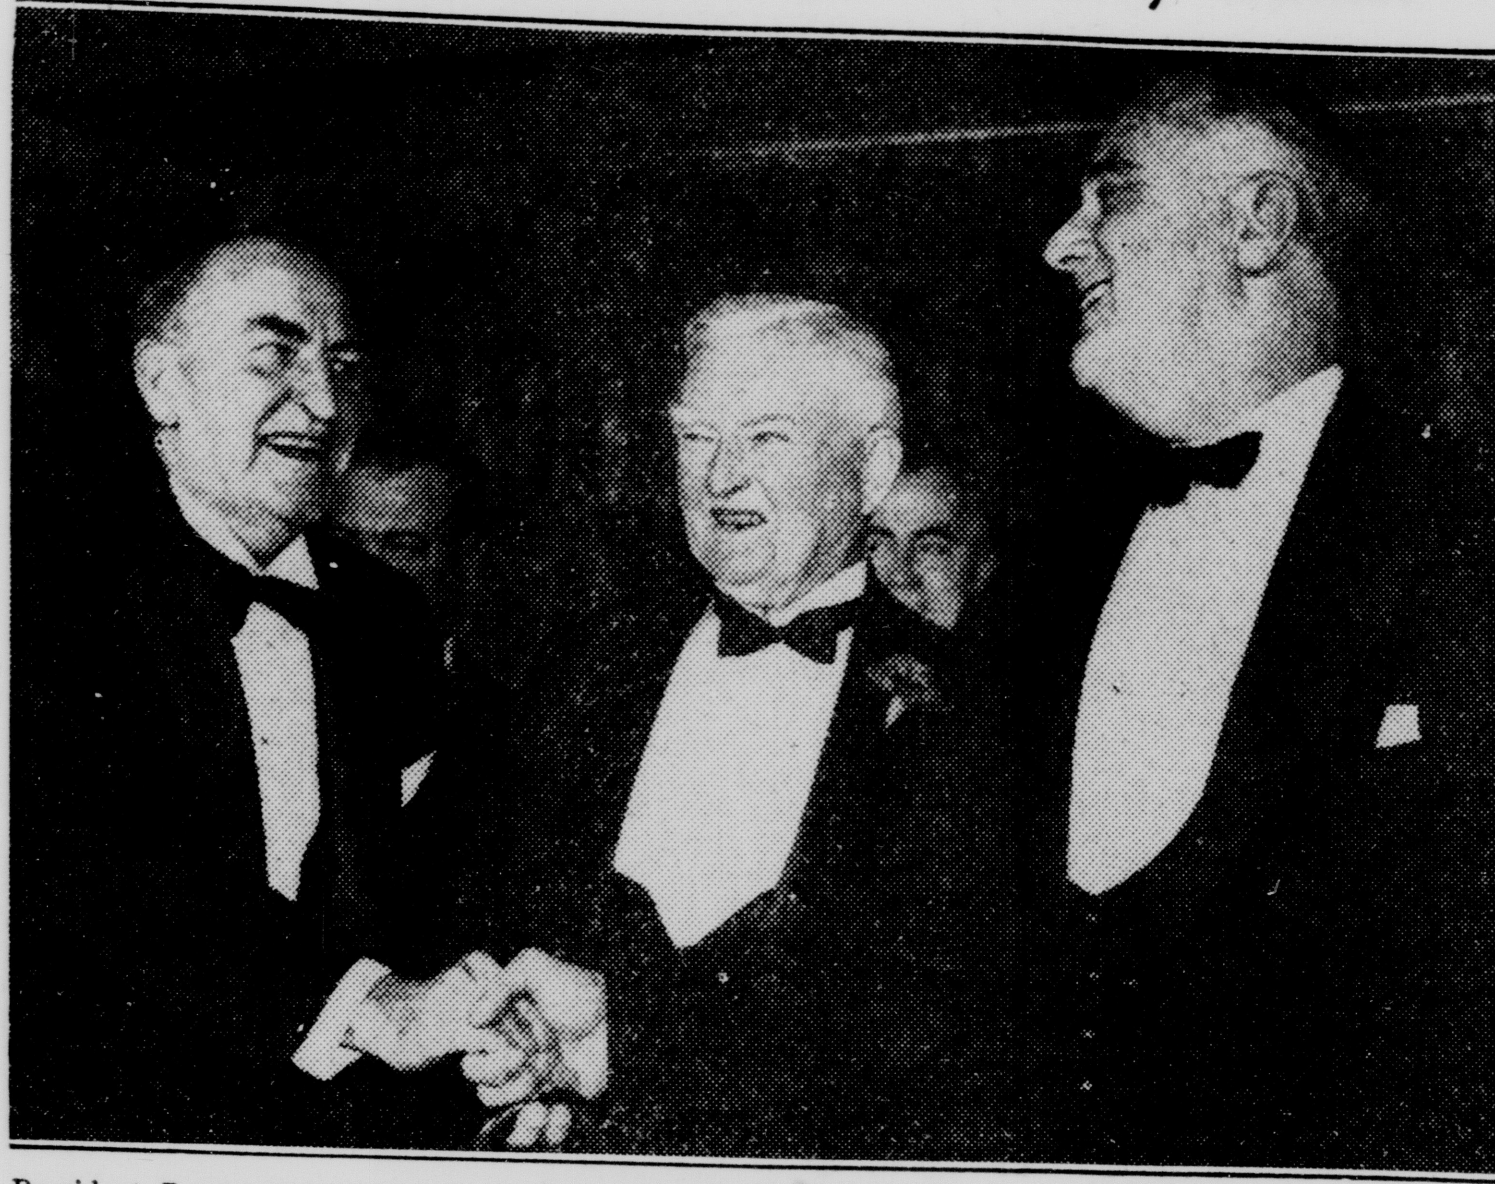

The most crucial point involved in the possible Japanese declaration of war on China, observers commented, lay in the blockade Japan might seek to impose against all foreign shipping in the war zone.

During December the state department licensed the export of $250,282 worth of munitions to Japan and $290,632 to China. If the neutrality act were invoked,

Some Democrats at a Jackson Day Dinner

President Roosevelt is shown shaking hands with William B. Bankhead, of Alabama, Speaker of the House, as Vice President Garner looks on approvingly. (Central Press) no such purchases would be permitted in the future.

Cash and Carry Basis.

In addition, the President could require that other purchases made by belligerents in this country be on a cash-and-carry basis.

Secretary Hull, reporting to the senate that there are still about 6,000 Americans in China, summed up the government's attitude as one of primary concern over maintenance of "orderly processes" in foreign relations.

"This interest," he said, "far transcends in importance the value of American trade with China or American investments in China. It transcends even the question of safeguarding the immediate welfare of American citizens in China."

There were reports that Mr. Roosevelt would ask for about $600,000 for two new battle-ships.

Admiral Leahy, chief of naval operations, said after a White House conference yesterday that the plans under discussion contemplated new legislation.

This was taken to mean that cruisers and aircraft carriers were contemplated, since these are the only major type of vessels not authorized under existing law.

The national council for prevention of war, representing a group of peace organizations favoring the Ludlow legislation, said in a statement last night that "the fight has just begun."

"The exhibition of presidential control of congress in peace-time shows clearly," it said, "that congress can not be counted upon to check the administration of giving the people themselves the right to vote on war issues."

MEETING HELD BY THE BURFORD P. T. A.

The Burford P. T. A. had its regular monthly meeting Friday evening. Mrs. R. C. Kanenbley, president, presided. The business session was held first, after which was an amateur program.

There was a large attendance as the teacher, parents and pupils all look forward to these meetings. Refreshments of weiners, sauerkraut, bread and coffee were served.

The next meeting will be February 4. This will be the time for election of officers for the next year.

LOWER FEED COSTS BY TREATING BOTS

Lowered winter feed costs and improved condition of work stock next spring and summer are some of the results obtained by treatment for bots at this time of the year, states J. U. Morris, county extension agent, as he urges Pettis county farmers to treat their horses, mules and colts immediately to receive maximum results from the treatment.

The treatment recommended is carbon disulphide and when properly administered will result in the removal of 95 to 100 per cent of the bots and 60 to 65 per cent of the roundworms, says Mr. Morris. In communities making a practice of bot treatment, reports indicate that the number of bot flies found during the following year is materially reduced, compared to when no treatment was used.

Farmers wishing to have their horses treated should contact their neighbors and group their horses in bunches of 10 to 20 or more for the treatment, which should be administered only by a competent veterinarian. For the treatment to be satisfactory, the following steps must be followed:

1. No feed should be given the horses later than noon prior to the day of treatment.
2. No water should be given later than noon prior to the day of treatment.
3. Water and feed should be withheld from the animals for four to five hours after treatment.

Local veterinarians have reported that a large number of horses are found to be heavily infested and that in a few cases animals have died because of the heavy infestation of the parasites.

ELECTRIC EYE TO CHECK SPEEDING

By The Associated Press.
CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 11.—If you like to step on the accelerator when the road's clear ahead and there's not a cop in sight, you're due for a bad jolt. Science has found out how to give you a ticket for speeding even though the nearest policeman is a mile away.

It's the electric eye again. The same eye that opens doors for parcel-laden travelers in railroad stations and turns on bubblers when thirsty workers bend down.

The new device projects a flickering infra red beam across the road to a photo electric cell.

If you're driving too fast, explains its designer, Thomas C. McCaleb, Harvard radio instructor, the electric cell can tell by the way the beam is broken, quickly or slowly. It can be set for any speed.

The machine sends an electric impulse to police headquarters, punching a ticker tape whenever speed limits are exceeded. After that, McCaleb explains, it's up to cruising cars to halt the violators.

Talks on Plays

Plays and play going were discussed at the meeting of Sorosis at the Heard Memorial club house Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Wm. R. Courtney, of the art and drama department, presided over an interesting program.

Mrs. J. C. English reviewed the book by John Mason Brown, "The Art of Play Going" and Mrs. Herbert Seifert reviewed part of a current play on the life of Queen Victoria. The play is one in which Helen Hayes is starred and will appear in Kansas City in the near future. The first year it remained in New York, the second year toured Europe, and is appearing west of New York for the first time this winter.

Mrs. Seifert gave a brief story on the life of Helen Hayes and Queen Victoria before taking up the play.

Music Club Program

A very interesting program is planned for the first meeting of the Helen G. Steele Music club this year at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Heard Memorial club house. All members are expected.

The Progressive class of the Epworth M. E. church will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. A. Blue, 1401 East Fourth street. Every member is urged to be present as this is the first meeting of the year and plans will be made for the coming year's work.

Church Events

The Missionary society of the Dresden M. E. church South met in the church Thursday with Mrs. R. V. Gentry as hostess. The morning was spent in quilting and at noon a lunch was served, to which all contributed.

A worship program was given in the afternoon with Mrs. George Fichter as leader.

A business session was held also at which time pledges for the year were made. The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. E. G. Church.

The February meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. E. Romig.

RETAIL CREDIT ASSOCIATION MEETS WEDNESDAY

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Sedalia Retail Credit association will be held Wednesday noon at Hotel Bothwell, I. H. Chamberlain's Lotion is a fixture in offices everywhere. One reason for its popularity among all business girls is that after using it, papers never stick to the fingers. Chamberlain's, a clear, golden liquid, dries quickly. Above all, it is never sticky, greasy, gummy nor "messy." Because it satiniizes, it helps keep dainty fingers lovely, skin smooth and attractive. At all toilet goods counters.

CHRISTMAS HYMNS PANTOMIMES

"Christmas Hymns Pantomimes" was first given by this group on December 19, 1937 at the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church, Four and Vermont. Because of many requests it was repeated last Sunday night. A group of thirty people composing the Junior and Senior Choir sang the words of the hymns as the pantomimers depicted the thoughts. The entire production required the work of more than sixty people.

The couple will make their home at 711 North Stanton, El Paso.

STORMY COUNCIL MEETING OVER ELECTION BOARD

New Turn To Controversy at Kansas City Over Its Expenses

By The Associated Press.
KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—Charges of city Democratic administrators that the election board's search for registration "ghosts" is a Republican subterfuge gave a new turn today to the board's controversy with city and county over its expenses.

The board, appointed as a bipartisan body by Gov. Lloyd C. Stark, repeatedly was called Republican last night at a stormy meeting of the city council.

Councilman Charles H. Clark, a Democrat, said "all the things the election board has been saying about frauds are nothing but camouflage and propaganda put out by the Republicans and the Republican press to scare people."

The whole trouble is that the Democratic party hasn't anyone on the election board to represent it.

At the time the board was appointed, T. J. Pendergast, whose Democratic organization is in power here, said the only real Democrat on the board was its chairman, J. E. Woodmansee, his comment was interpreted as a critical shot at Edgar Shook, the other member listed by Governor Stark as a Democrat. Shook opposed the Pendergast forces by joining a fusion movement at the last city election.

During the council debate, City Manager H. F. McElroy said, "the Republicans across the street are just poor, weak and whistling in their graves." The election board's offices are in the county courthouse across from the city hall.

Contented It Is Handicapped.

The council ended the arguments by voting down six to two a proposal that the city manager pay salary warrants drawn on the city treasurer by the election board. The two who voted for the resolution were the fusionist councilmen who won over Pendergast opposition in 1934.

Mayor Bryce B. Smith asked McElroy if he had refused to cooperate with the election board in its investigation of frauds.

"Not a bit," the city manager replied, "let them sail in and do their work."

The board contends it is being greatly handicapped by city and county opposition to its employment of $6-a-day deputies to speed up the fraud investigation and get it out of the way so a permanent registration roll may be ready for the March city election.

Oil Reported Stolen.

Three cases of oil were reported stolen off a Skelly Oil truck parked in front of 107 South Prospect avenue sometime early today. The police are making an investigation.

LICENSING FOR STRENGTHENING
ANTI-TRUST LAWSSuch Is Among Proposals
Discussed By Congressmen and Officials

(Among the proposals being discussed by congressmen and administration officials for strengthening anti-trust laws is the Borah-O'Mahoney bill to require federal licensing of interstate corporations. The following article explains the bill's provisions.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.(AP)—Sponsors of a federal corporation licensing program declared today it not only would break up monopolies but would impose desirable labor standards.

Senators Borah (R-Idaho) and O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), co-authors of the measure, said it was based on "this principle: 'That since the constitution gives to the federal government the power to regulate commerce among the states, and since this commerce is now chiefly carried on by artificial agencies called corporations, the powers, functions and duties of these agencies should be prescribed by the federal government.'"

Licenses or Charters. As a prerequisite to doing business in interstate commerce, the bill provides that corporations would have to obtain licenses, or charters, from the federal trade commission. Its membership would be increased from five to nine.

Before the commission would issue a license, a corporation would have to provide detailed information on its operations, organization, financial structure, salaries and securities.

A license could be denied if the commission found that corporation was violating the existing anti-trust laws or was monopolizing or conspiring to monopolize any part of commerce.

Each license would contain "such terms and conditions as the commission shall prescribe" as necessary to carry out purposes of the act. Licenses could be revoked if the conditions were violated; revocations could be appealed to the courts.

The bill would prevent discrimination in rates of pay against women employees who performed services "approximately equivalent to those performed by male employees."

It would prohibit work by persons under 16 years of age or the employment of those under 18 in hazardous occupations.

Employees would be guaranteed the right to bargain collectively. To render such bargaining more effective, the trade commission could obtain from licensed corporations cost, price and other data.

It also could recommend to congress establishment of minimum wage scales for industries where "abuses have not been eliminated through collective bargaining."

Difficulty Presaged Opponents of the measure contend it would give the trade commission life-and-death powers over corporations, by refusing or revoking a license, they say, the commission would cripple a company and divert its business to competitors.

In addition, foes of the plan have argued that the inclusion of labor provisions would make it difficult to administer. Some administration legislators have contended that labor standards should be set up in a separate measure, such as proposed in the wage and hour bill shelved by the house during the last session.

HAYDN SYMPHONY
CONCERT NUMBER

By Rabbi Samuel Halevi Baron
Writer of Program Notes for the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra

Franz Josef Haydn (1732-1809), an Austrian of Croatian ancestry, is looked upon as the father of the modern symphony.

In his long life of creative effort, his music had a freshness, a vitality, and a frank devotion to simple melody which were quite new and unprecedented. It was Haydn's uncommon privilege to have homage and honors heaped upon him during his own lifetime. He was a beloved and much sought-after orchestra leader, who thus enjoyed ample opportunities to conduct his own compositions and to experiment freely with his original musical effects.

Haydn wrote hundreds of songs, instrumental solos and duets, oratorios, canons, Masses, operas, concertos, sonatas, quartets, overtures, and other pieces. His symphonies alone, many of them unpublished and still in manuscript, number 153. He is also the composer of the old Austrian national hymn. It is little to be wondered at that there should be a great deal of confusion in the standard numbering of his symphonies.

One of his more familiar symphonies, in B flat, is known as No. 12 in the Breitkopf and Haertel edition and as No. 9 in the Salomon series of twelve symphonies which Haydn composed and conducted in England for Salomon's orchestra. Like much of his music, including the Austrian national anthem, it abounds with themes taken in then unorthodox fashion from Croatian folk-songs.

At next Tuesday's concert of the Sedalia Symphony Orchestra, Abe Rosenthal will conduct this Haydn Symphony No. 12 or 9 as the second number on the program. The first, third and fourth movements are to be played at that time.

SNOWY SHROUD OVER TEN KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Canadian committee of the Hudson's Bay Co.

Ted Anderson, mechanic in the St. Paul shops of Northwest airlines.

I. E. Stevenson of Seattle.

Investigation Be Made

Croil Hunter, president of the Northwest Airlines, issued this statement at St. Paul:

"It has been determined that all on board lost their lives."

"Until a thorough investigation has been conducted by both the airline officials and the Department of Commerce we will be unable to make any statement as to the definite causes surrounding the same."

Sheriff Westlake, who led the searching party over tortuous roads and trails to the wreckage, reported the bodies were badly burned, three had been thrown, or fallen, from the fuselage, and the others were tossed into the front of the shattered airliner.

The passengers were the first to meet death on a Northwest Airlines flight. The National Safety Council awarded the line a certificate last year for its 11-year record of flying 47,000,000 passenger miles with no passenger fatalities.

The plane, bound for Chicago from Seattle via Minneapolis, had been grounded for a time at Butte because of bad weather.

Alfred Nikles, a rancher, furnished a bobbed and horses to take the searching party the last leg of the trip into the canyon cut mountains.

Blizzard at Wreck

A blizzard was raging when the sheriff's party reached the wreckage after trudging over two miles of snow-choked roads.

The wings of the plane, the sheriff said, were not torn off, and the nose of the plane appeared to have been snapped off by impact with the frozen ground.

Three bodies had been tossed, or fell, out of the fuselage, and the others were thrown to the forward part of the airliner.

The wreckage was not scattered over the mountainside to any extent.

Gallatin county Coroner Howard Nelson left for the scene, but was reported to have been turned back by the blizzard.

On Way to Billings

The plane, a new 14-passenger Lockheed Zephyr, was flying from Seattle to Chicago, via Minneapolis. It had been grounded a short time at Butte because of bad weather and then took off for Billings.

Larson and White said they were cutting timber high on the mountain slope when they saw the plane go into a tail spin little more than 200 feet from where they worked.

They said one body was thrown clear of the wreckage when the plane hit, but landed so close to the flames they could not reach it.

Going for aid, Larson and White trudged through heavy snow to the highway where they met Sheriff Westlake and a party of forest rangers.

Taking to skis and snowshoes, the sheriff and the rangers continued to the isolated scene, near the Flaming Arrow divide.

The territory where the plane plunged lies in a rugged area of the Gallatin national forest, lined with deep canyons and high mountains. It is heavily forested.

A few scattered ranches are located in the forest. Roads have been closed by deep snow for about a month.

BEAT OFF EFFORTS TO CUT LABOR BOARD FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The house beat off today attempts to reduce an appropriation for the national labor relations board from $2,380,000 to $1,000,000.

Representative Taber (R., N. Y.), who originated the move, charged that the board's policy had been to "foment" rather than to quiet labor disturbances.

Board friends contended the drive to cut the appropriation was an effort to cripple the board's work.

ASSERTS RURAL RELIEF DEMANDS ARE INCREASING

estimated that Hudson was employing 12,000 of its peak of 14,000. Packard employment he placed at 11,000 on January 1, compared to a peak of 14,000.

Leonard P. Ayres, Cleveland banker, following Wallace as committee witness, said three "warning signals" appeared months in advance of the business recession.

The first, he said, was the decline in bond prices nine or ten months ago. The second was the decline of stock prices in March, 1937, and the third an advance in current interest rates at approximately the same time.

"During the last 100 years there have been 13 large depressions, all preceded by these same economic changes or warning signals," Ayres said.

Frown On "High Pressure."

In previous conferences with Myron C. Taylor, retiring chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, and William S. Knudsen, president of General Motors—Mr. Roosevelt has frowned upon "high pressure" selling without regard to demand.

He believes this to be one of the "evils" demanding correction because, in his opinion, it leads to market gluts and unemployment.

In his Jackson day dinner address Saturday night, the President pledged cooperation with all who were willing to "help the evils that flow from undue concentration of economic power or unfair business practices." He served notice of a relentless fight, however, on a minority of "business men, bankers and industrialists" who he said intends a struggle "to the last ditch to retain autocratic control" over the country's economy.

The views of one prominent industrialist, Lamont Du Pont, on current business conditions were given to the senate unemployment committee yesterday.

Du Pont, head of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, said his concern's estimates indicated a 23 per cent decline in sales during the next six months but despite this would spend $38,000,000 on new construction during 1938.

During the morning, Aubrey Williams, acting works progress administrator and the President's first caller of the day, reported between 250,000 and 300,000 men had been added to WPA rolls since December 1. The total on the rolls, he said, was 1,700,000.

He added that experience shows that the "big pressure" on relief rolls usually comes about eight or nine weeks after people lose their jobs.

Hence, the WPA anticipated a peak demand for help about February 1.

The President, meanwhile, resumed his conferences looking at an understanding with private power utilities out of these the administration hopes the utilities will begin much needed construction, while the latter are counting on less federal competition and regulation.

At a forenoon meeting in his office, Mr. Roosevelt talked with Daniel C. Green, president of the Central Service Corporation of Chicago; John W. Carpenter, president of the Texas Power and Light Company of Dallas, and Arthur B. West, president of the Nevada-California Electric Corporation, of Riverside, Calif.

Not Wait on Government

Wilson Compton of the National Lumber Manufacturers Association said the nation's lumber industry was going to do something about pulling itself out of the business slump without waiting on the government to act.

He added, however, that the government could help "by adopting a few sound policies and sticking to them, and not a sequence of self-contradictory policies."

LIQUIDATION OF SEVEN BANDS ENDS

By The Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 11.—R. Waldo Holt, state finance commissioner, announced today completion of liquidation of seven state banks during December—first fruits of a drive to speed up liquidation of 380 closed state banks.

Two of the institutions—the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Pacific and the Bank of St. Clair paid out 100 per cent and distributed remaining assets to stockholders, Holt said.

The other banks and percentages of dividends paid: Bank of Osage City, 84 1/2; Farmers Exchange Bank of Silex, 46; Farmers Merchants Bank of Center, 30; Bank of Mound City, 10 1/2; Ravanna State Bank of Ravanna, 2.88 on preferred claims.

Holt announced Dec. 16 the 80 liquidating agents of his department had been instructed to wind up the affairs of the closed banks as "rapidly as possible" without sacrificing assets.

Her body was taken to Concordia.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Ralph Warren and son, "Sonny" left this morning for Dallas, Texas, where they will visit Mrs. Warren's mother and sisters.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Carroll, of Kansas City, and Mr. Carroll's mother, Mrs. L. E. Carroll and son, "Buss" Carroll, of Carthage, all motored from Kansas City Monday and spent a few hours in Sedalia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Green had with their guests last week end Mr. and Mrs. Joe Green of Centralia, a brother of the Missouri state fair chairman, and his nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Lee R. Green of Lalem.

BYRNES BITTERLY ASSAILS THE ANTI-LYNCHING BILL

cided definitely whether to hold night meetings.

Byrnes asserted there "has been a steady decline in lynching for 10 years."

"Out of 130,000,000 people in this country," he continued, "only eight were lynched during 1937."

The South Carolina senator spoke of "outrages" he said the south had suffered at the hands of "carpetbaggers and scoundrels" during the reconstruction period, and said this made it necessary for southerners to "take the law into their own hands."

Now, he said, lynching is rapidly declining, but some legislators nevertheless want to "destroy the power of the states' with the anti-lynching bill."

Doubts Enforcement

"Can one forget the record of the United States government in enforcement of the national prohibition law?" Byrnes demanded, expressing doubt that the anti-lynching measure could be enforced.

A joint congressional committee, meanwhile, reported agreement on wheat provisions of the "ever-normal granary" program.

Senator Pope (D-Idaho), a committee member, said the wheat agreement was "a direct compromise" between the separate bills passed by the house and senate.

Under it the program will aim at keeping wheat supplies equal to average annual domestic consumption and exports for the past 10 years, plus a reserve of 15 per cent of these.

Republican opposition to invoking the senate's drastic rule limiting debate gave new hope today to southern senators filibustering against the anti-lynching bill.

Senator Connally (D-Tex), leader of the opposition forces, said he still had "plenty of artillery" to fire. That, to senators meant he had plenty of speakers willing to talk indefinitely against the measure in an effort to prevent a vote.

Many Democrats probably would think twice before voting to cut off debate, some opponents said, after two of their southern colleagues declared yesterday that passage of the bill might split the party.

"Beware, gentlemen, beware," said Senator Harrison (D-Miss), "Your action may be most momentous. Is the faith of the South to be broken? Is its love for the Democratic party to be shattered?"

Senator Miller (D-Ark) asserted the southern people would "revolt," and cited their long allegiance to the Democratic party.

RUSSELL BROTHERS PLAN FOR STORE AT LEXINGTON

The Russell Brothers, who operate a men's clothing store in Sedalia, are making plans to open a store, their fourth, in Lexington, in one of the buildings being rebuilt on the scene of the recent fire.

H. W. Schrimshoe, H. H. Boatman and Douglas Kennedy, of the Sedalia store, were in Warrensburg attending a buying and sales conference of the stores.

Waldman's are discontinuing all boys merchandise—savings are exceptional! Buy now!—Adv.

GOLDEN GLOVERS BE IN 42 ROUNDS OF FAST BOXING

Young Mitt Artists Here
Are Ready For Bouts
Wednesday Night

Sedalia Golden Glovers will meet Kansas City Golden Glovers in the "square-ring" at convention hall, Liberty park, in Sedalia Wednesday night, January 12, at which time forty-two rounds of fast boxing will be exhibited by half as many boxers, all interested in being members of Golden Glove teams to fight in the Tournament of Champions in Kansas City next month.

The last three matches to be made were announced early today by Coach Joe Ordway, which will now complete the card. "Bud" Martin of Sedalia; Tommie Craig fights Pete Stuart and Dean Murray and Cecil Landers will swap leather.

The only Kansas City opponent in matches Monday night at the Municipal Auditorium, who is scheduled here was Herman Tolbert, to meet "Bud" Martin in Sedalia. Tolbert lost a decision to Mike Kraan. Elks entry in the Kansas City Golden Gloves. Tolbert, although he lost Monday night, cannot be overlooked as being a tough boxer, but likewise he is meeting a tough youngster of the Sedalia Glovers.

Ready For Opponents
"Billy" Smith meets Jay Jones of Kansas City. Smith is working hard for these two short days to be prepared to meet his new found companion of the ring. "Buck" Miller, has been resting since the Joplin trip but is expected to be prepared to meet Franklin Medellen.

"Mike" Hughes in his workouts is his same old self, working steady and is anxious for Wednesday night to arrive to meet his opponent in Stanley Scherzer, a hard hitting Kansas Citian.

Coach Ordway is working each and every boxer hard this week to get them into shape for the tournament, not overlooking the fight preceding the finals. All of the Golden Glove entries are requested to report to the Engine House at 7:30 o'clock tonight and get their tickets to the "trial bout" show.

Hugh "Spot" Curran will be the third man in the ring. Ringside seats and reserved seats are now on sale at the Pacific Cafe, Hugelman's Cigar Store, Joe Chasoff's Bothwell Drug Store, and at the Sedalia Democrat-Capital office. Tickets will remain on sale at these places until 5:30 o'clock Wednesday evening, after which they can be obtained at Convention hall.

YOUNGSTERS OUT FOR BIG MONEY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 11.—Johnny Nee, Ace baseball scout of the world champion New York Yankees, paused in his hunt for diamond talent today to say that big money has made the youngsters harder to sign.

"Baseball's big money has fired the youngsters' imagination," he said. "The boys who have talent don't ask for the opportunity to hook up with a big time organization any more; what they want to know is this:

"How much will I get?"
"The first thing they do is hire a manager or agent. I don't blame them for trying to get as much money as they can, but it certainly makes it tough on us."

In the old days a visit of a big league scout to a minor league club to look over the town favorite called for a community holiday with all the townfolk gathered in the stands to cheer their hero.

Today, Nee said, as soon as a budding star begins to bloom most of the stands are filled with official and unofficial scouts eager to sign the player if he shows anything like big time stuff.

There was a time, Nee recalls, when the manager of a minor league club would invite a scout to look over, at his convenience, a player considered to have major league stuff.

"Those days are gone," moaned Johnny. "Now the Chamber of Commerce or a high school coach will tell you they have a chap with what it takes but you'll have to bid, because every club in the circuit is wise to him."

The only way to hit virgin territory now, explained Nee, is to haunt the grade and junior high school sandlots.

FOOTBALL LETTER AWARD ED TO JAMES W. STEPHENS

James Wilbur Stephens, who graduated from Smith-Cotton high school with the class of '37, was recently awarded a letter for his activity in football during the past season on the campus of the School of Mines and Metallurgy at Rolla.

Stephens is serving as vice president of the freshman class at the School of Mines and Metallurgy where he is a student in mechanical engineering. He is the son of James W. Stephens of Beaman.

CLASS E LEAGUES FOR BASEBALL IN SEASON OF 1938

Designed To Care For Ambitious Youngsters In Great Game

(By W. G. BRAMHAM)
DURHAM, N. C., Jan. 11.—(P)—

The minor leagues step into a new year with a new responsibility. Not only has the National Association expanded within its former confines, but enters 1938 with a new classification—Class E leagues—created at the annual convention in Milwaukee last month.

These new leagues, authorized to take care of an insistent demand on the part of youth for a place in the baseball sun, will be virtual kindergartens of the professional game. They will be limited to modest salary rolls, and are designed, primarily, for "home town" boys and those living within close range of the clubs.

We anticipated the boys would welcome this opportunity but were far short in our estimate of the amount of interest that would be generated. Our office has been literally swamped with mail from young players since the creation of Class E.

Inquiries come from all sections and from all types of boys. They are anxious to start on a baseball career, and the National association has assumed the responsibility of affording them their chance. Class E leagues are in a formative stage. No doubt numerous circuits of this rating will be admitted to membership this year. My advice to the youngsters is to watch their local papers for news of league organization and, after selecting a club close to home, make application for a trial.

Interest Keen By Youth

Such a rush of mail as we have had is clearly indicative that youth has not lost its interest in baseball, as some would have us believe. On the contrary, I feel that the heavy influx of inquiries convinces, without a doubt, that there has not been so much interest on the part of boys in years.

This rise may be traced to the startling growth of Class D leagues. In 1933, only two of them were in operation. There was not much room for the beginner. Last season we had 20 Class D circuits, and with this broadened field, the number of youngsters entering the game showed a remarkable increase and interest was stimulated to an exceptional pitch.

As to the immediate past and present of the National association, I have only to direct attention to the season of 1937. Thirty-seven minor leagues started the campaign and every one finished its schedule with an absence of territorial lien debts, indicating that "business was good" and that baseball was back on the plane where it belongs.

With such an encouraging season behind us, we naturally go very hopefully into 1938. We realize that baseball, as well as other amusement enterprises, rides with the ebb and flow of general business conditions.

Minor league baseball does not want to let prosperity go to its head. It is our purpose to continue in the channels of sane business methods, and under such policy we view the new year with the hope and thought that it will hold both pleasure and profit.

BOXERS AND GRAPPLERS BE IN A SPELLING BEE

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(P)—Boxers and wrestlers are to do a battle before the microphone Saturday night—in a field considerably outside their separate activities.

They are coming together in a spelling bee on WJZ-NBC at 7:30 (CST). Tommy Farr, British heavyweight, is to head the boxing team of words with Mike Mazurki in charge of the wrestlers. The bout is to originate at Farr's training camp at Summit, N. J.

Both sides now are in training, with all available dictionaries being pressed to the mat to provide the proper mental diet.

LOS ANGELES OPEN TOURNAMENT TO THOMSON

Posts a 273 to Win the Second Major Tournament of Career

By The Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The roving band of professional golfers, led by Jimmy Thomson, winner of the $7,500 Los Angeles open, turned toward Del Mar by the sea today and Bing Crosby's $3,000 tournament.

The event limited to 75 professionals and 75 amateurs, will be held Saturday and Sunday.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(P)—Husky Jimmy Thomson won the second major golf tournament of his career Monday when he posted a 72-hole score of 273 to walk away with the $7,500 Los Angeles open.

The seige gun from Shawnee-on-the-Delaware, Pa., many times a runner-up for championship honors, refused to trail any one through the Los Angeles tournament, and set a new tournament record with his score, capped by a 68, three under par, on the final round.

Victory to the winner was worth $2,100.

Thompson finished three strokes to the good over Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., the same margin separating the leader from the field when the final 18 holes started today before a gallery that swelled to nearly 5,000 before the shooting ended.

Tied with 278 were Lawson Little, San Francisco's ex-amateur champion, and Henry Picard, Hershey, Pa. Listed at 279 were Horton Smith, Chicago's gangling one-time "Joplin ghost"; George Van Elm, another former national amateur king; Willie Goggin, San Francisco, and Lloyd Mangrum, Dayton, Ohio.

Runner-up to Revolta in the recent Miami Biltmore, runner-up to Sam Parks for the national open title in 1935 and to Denny Shute in 1936 for the P. G. A. champion, broad shouldered Jimmy took the lead at the start of the Los Angeles and never gave it up.

His 36-hole score of 131 set a new record for golfers to shoot at, while he faltered with a 74 in the third round, his 68 today was better than enough to stand off any challenge. He was one under on the first nine, and birdied the 12th and 14th coming back.

With the crowd gradually getting out of control, Jimmy came on in with even four's to cinch the title and go one stroke under the tournament record Harry Cooper made over the same course one year ago.

The leaders in the Los Angeles open golf tournament and their prize money:

John Revolta	277	$1260
Lowson Little	278	840
Henry Picard	278	840
Willie Goggin	279	350
George Van Elm	279	350
Horton Smith	279	350
Lloyd Mangrum	279	350
Olin Dutra	280	126

SURPRISE HEAD OF MOTORCYCLE CLUB

The Sedalia Motorcycle Club met in regular session Monday night at its hall of West Main street with ten members in attendance. The idea of securing apparatus for a gymnasium was discussed and bound over to the next meeting. Regular business was finished and the members went individually to the home of H. A. Fischer, president, to surprise him with a birthday party. Refreshments were served, games were played and everyone had a good time.

CHAPMAN WOULD TAKE TO BASEBALL

BERKELEY, Calif., Jan. 11.—Sam Chapman, University of California's all-American football halfback who says he would rather play baseball, probably will find his way into a major league club after his graduation next May.

Friends indicated today it was likely he would complete a deal with some big league team, probably receiving a large bonus (perhaps $5,000 or $10,000) to sign.

Chapman said he had been approached by representatives of the Boston Red Sox, New York Yankees and St. Louis Browns of the American League and Cincinnati of the National League.

Chapman is an outfielder but plays shortstop on occasion. A right-handed hitter, last season he batted .420. He is a sure ball-hawk with a powerful arm.

THE SPORTS ROUNDUP

(By EDDIE BRIETZ)

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(P)—Frank Thomas, Alabama coach, has picked up 12 pounds and looks ten years younger since January 1. . . . The entire coaching staff lost about ten pounds per man during December. . . . Add rumors: Amos Alonzo Stagg will end his long and distinguished coaching career after his College of the Pacific team plays Chicago at Soldier's Field next season, and Glenn Cunningham will hang up his spikes after the current indoor campaign. . . . Two top flight southern track stars are feuding over a cutie. . . . Freddie Steele is still the champion of all the middleweights—except Apostoli.

Sports writers moan and groan when the DePaul university basketball coach sends in his second team. . . . The forwards are Messrs. Soimeca and Skrodski; Art Zelezinski is the pivot and the guards answer to such tongue twisters as Szukala and Szulcski. . . . Dick Emery, captain and center for the Drury high team of North Adams, Mass., scored six touchdowns from that position last season. . . . Jimmy Crowley of Fordham and Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, are fishing off Biloxi, Miss.

Bottom was really struck in the basketball situation at Worcester, Mass., the other night when more players than customers showed up. . . . Score: Players 34; spectators 31. . . . Storm warning: The Minnesota football team has started spring practice. . . . Wait and see if you don't hear a lot about Prochaska of Nebraska next fall. . . . He's a sophomore end and a honey. . . . Betsy Grant says Chicago's Bobby Riggs is "the thinking player I ever met" and will take his place among the world's best netters one of these days.

Last month California sports writers said each Alabama player was to get $200 for spending money on the Rose Bowl trip. . . . If you're interested, here is the correct budget: Going out, $1 each; after the game, $5; coming back, $1. . . . (Most of the boys bought wrist watches and suits for the folks back home with what they had left) . . . Billy Sixty, bowling expert of the Milwaukee Journal, rolled two 300 games in succession the other night (which is going like sixty) and up at Hamilton, Ont., Harold (Gear) Elford, ran off a perfect score with 12 consecutive strikes.

Fight chatter: Fred Apostoli is being swamped with offers. . . . London wants him for Jock Mc-

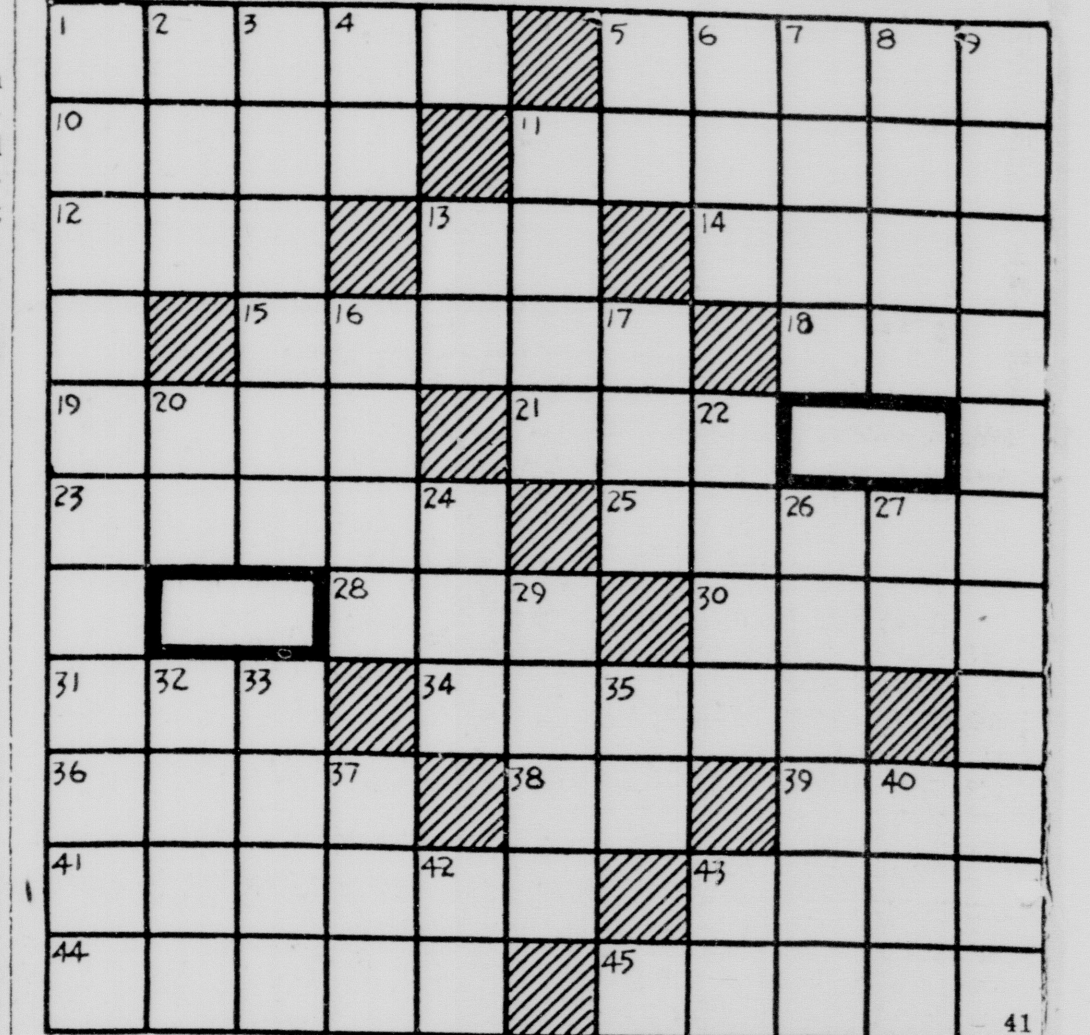

Avoy, Pittsburgh offers Billy Conn and Buffalo, Ralph Dejohn. . . . Suey Welch, Los Angeles promoter, has wired for terms. . . . Already Fred has signed to fight Glen Lee here February 4 and Young Corbett in San Francisco February 22. . . . Bob Tow, Joe Gould's new heavyweight prospect, has offers to meet John Henry Lewis in both Pittsburgh and St. Louis. . . . Mike Jacobs paid off 11 different fight managers for Friday's Garden show, which is scattering the dough around.

WHEAT DECLINES IN SLOW BUYING

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11—Nearly two cents fall of Chicago wheat prices late today accompanied dearth of any aggressive buying interest, and especially a decided lull in European demand.

The Buenos Aires wheat market turned reactionary following yesterday's sharp bulge there, and had a notably bearish effect in Chicago.

At 3 p. m., Argentine wheat quotations were 2½ cents off.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures touched the day's bottom level, 1½ to 1¾c under yesterday's finish, May 96 to 96½c; July 90 to 90½c; with corn ¼ to ¾c down, May 61½ to 61¾c; July 61½c and oats ¼ to ¾c off.

PROGRAM BEFORE
HORACE MANN P. T. A.

Horace Mann P. T. A. met at the school Friday, January 7. The president, Mrs. Van Horn, opened the meeting by the group singing two songs followed by the Lord's Prayer.

Heber U. Hunt, superintendent of public schools, was the speaker for the afternoon. A brief but informative talk on school revenue and taxes and facts concerning the Sedalia public schools was given. Following this he gave a very impressive talk on "Youth's Opportunities and Who Shall Determine Them." The following figures, facts and possible solutions to the problems of keeping our youth occupied held the interest of a larger group of patrons and pupils.

In the United States there are approximately fourteen million youths past high school age. One out of every four continue schooling leaving about five million idle youth from the ages of sixteen to twenty-four years. Since industry is not easily for this vast number every community must provide a place for them to learn to make constructive use of leisure time. Quoting Mr. Hunt "We must take youth off the bleachers and put them in the game."

In recent years our Y. M. C. A. was closed, a transient home taking its place and now possibly a county jail. Boy and Girl Scout programs had to be shortened. Several churches with gymnasiums found it necessary to cut expenses. While other places not so desirable for youth were maintained by our public, leaving our own youth without ample space to carry on recreational activities. It has been estimated that seventy-five dollars will educate one youth for one year but to maintain a prisoner for that time costs three hundred dollars. Every adult realizes that idle youth often leads to crime.

Three hundred boys took part in night baseball last summer sponsored by the physical education program. Under the direction of J. T. Alexander, director of music at Smith-Cotton, orchestras have been organized and well attended by enthusiastic children from each school. Since the first of the year the board of education granted the use of Eugene Field school as a community center. Washington school gymnasium is opened two nights a week for basketball. The Lincoln school also has a class. These games are being played by boys from 16 to 20 years and are under the direction of capable and responsible young men.

Mr. Hunt stressed the importance of society through our schools reaching the youth and its problems of keeping occupied with a longer period of schooling and organized recreational activities, and hobbies for a more constructive use of leisure time. In conclusion he read an appropriate poem entitled, "Give Them a Chance to Play."

The school program was given by Miss Nell Logan's room. Two songs by entire room, Snow Flakes and Moon Lady's Party.

A 3-act play, Around the Clock with Sally Sue.

Characters:
Sally Sue, Alberta Stanfield.
Sally Sue's Mother, Helen Cramer.

Elves, Junior Yockey, Mary Helen Monk, Dorothy Becker, Charmaine Nickols, Wilma Jean McVey, Troy Rime, Eunice Lowe, Billy Ulmer, Orval Henderson, Edward Rodgers, Teddy McAnally and Virginia Lee Roberts. The attendance award went to Miss Logan's room.

EMPLOYERS MAY DEDUCT
SOCIAL SECURITY TAXES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Employers may deduct social security taxes in making out their federal income tax returns, the treasury said today, but employees may not do so.

A salaried person may deduct taxes he pays on his house but not on the one per cent of his salary he pays for the prospect of an old age pension, officials advised. They explained the latter levy is technically an income tax and under law, cannot be deducted in figuring the regular income tax. The tax on employers, however, is labeled an excise tax and is deductible the same as the federal tax on automobiles and refrigerators.

Baby Flies for Her Life

Pictured in the arms of Nurse Mary C. Potter, at Utica, N. Y., is "Little Miss Rome," a 5-month-old baby of Rome, N. Y., as she awaited word to board a plane for Baltimore. The child's esophagus is ruptured, necessitating a vital operation. She is one of a poor Rome family, and expenses are being paid by the Rome Chamber of Commerce, which has raised $1,200 for that purpose. (Central Press)

Canoeist Missing

Richard Huertley, 17, who has been missing from his home in Darien, Conn., more than week, is pictured above. He set out in an 18-foot canoe, possibly headed for Florida. He is the object of an intensive search. (Central Press)

HAMMER USED TO KILL SHOEMAKER

JONESBURG, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Glenns Schonhoff, 53 year-old shoemaker, was found slain in his shop Monday, his head bashed in, apparently by a shoe hammer found nearby.

A coroner's jury returned an open verdict that his death was caused by a blow on the head.

Sheriff Joe Covington of Montgomery county said the bloody hammer lay on the floor beside the body, and expressed belief Schonhoff was killed during an attempted robbery sometime last night. Schonhoff was known to carry large sums of money at times, the sheriff added. He owned buildings which housed his own shop, the telephone exchange, a funeral parlor and a restaurant.

Ends Life With Gun

PATTONSBURG, Mo., Jan. 11.—(AP)—Henry Withen 75, was found dead of a rifle wound between the eyes at his home at Altamont, Mo., Monday. Doctor Frank Hedges, coroner of Pattonburg, pronounced the death a suicide. Withen's widow and four daughters survive.

ROBBERS CAUGHT IN MIDDLE OF HOLDUP

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Two men were held for investigation Monday after Police Detective Fred Greene and two fellow members of the homicide squad reported interrupting them in the middle of a holdup on the Union Finance Company.

Two bill posters who were on their way to lunch looked in on the finance company and then summoned officers.

Police said one of the two men arrested told of being released about six months ago from Folsom penitentiary in California after serving fifteen years of a 25-year term for robberies in San Francisco.

Detective Greene said the arresting officers took $214.75 from the men. The two were booked at police headquarters as Clarence Bottom, 26, and Charles R. Reese, 38.

Reese was quoted as saying he was the Folsom man.

MINISTER DRINKS GIN TO HELP HIS INDIGESTION

INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP)—A 50-year-old minister who Judge E. E. Creps said testified he was drinking sloe gin to cure an attack of indigestion, and didn't know what it was, was found guilty of driving under the influence of liquor in Indiana county court Monday.

Judge Creps fined the Rev. J. C. Glenn, of Lemoyne, Pa., $200 and costs, and sentenced the clergyman to serve from six to 12 months in Allegheny county workhouse.

Mr. Glenn was arrested September 21 while en route to a ministerial conference in Pittsburgh.

SPECTATOR SAVES ONE FROM DROWNING IN FROZEN CREEK

WELLSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 11.—(AP)—A spectator broke ice and dived into a creek last night saving the life of one of three occupants of a car which had plunged into the stream.

Mrs. Ross Field and Mrs. William Miller, both of Weirton, W. Va., were drowned.

Ross Fields, a prize fighter, was rescued by Thurman Campbell. Fields was taken, in a serious condition, to a Steubenville hospital.

BABY IS BURIED AT SEA
AFTER DYING ON LINER

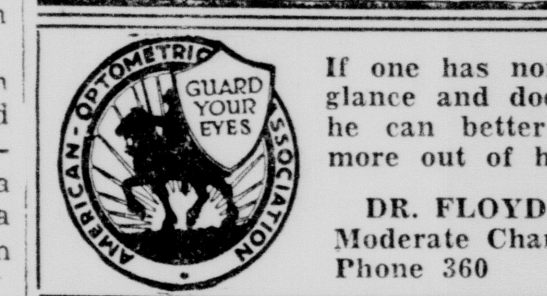

COBH, Ireland, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The liner Manhattan of the United States lines reported two deaths on her arrival today after a stormy voyage from New York.

Lothar Uhleman, a seaman, was washed overboard while fastening deck canvas. The liner circled for two hours in the vicinity without sighting him.

A baby girl, Christianne Le-maire, traveling with her mother, died and was buried at sea.
